HER DEADLY RIVAL

"Oscar Keith," rival. You needn't tip your head back and look through your glasses that way!

"Well, then, I met him last spring, and I was attracted right away, because he was big and strong and all that. We weren't engaged though, until June, and after that everything was lovely until the cool days came, this fall.

"Cool days! That isn't so bad. But wouldn't you be cool yourself if you got note after note saying, 'Can't take that walk this aft. It's too good a day to practice.' Or, 'I'm sending you both the season tickets for that lecture course. Better get some girl to go with you. I might have known, when I bought them, that I couldn't waste October afternoons at lectures, but, you see, I never was engaged before and I suppose it went to my head.'

"It was football, you see, uncle, and a man might as well be a Mormon as try to be true to football and a girl at the same time. Days would pass without his coming near me, and when he did come he couldn't talk about a thing but tackles and bucking the line.

"At first I didn't show that I felt hurt. Instead, I got up a little evening supper—the kind he always liked. Do you suppose he ate it? He looked reproachful, as if I ought to have known without being told that he lived on birdseed and mush in football season—and he never touched a crumb!

Then he followed that by telling me that he'd have to go to bed at six every night after this and get up and take long runs in the early morning. But he said Oscar Keith had agreed to be his 'sub' in taking me to the theater the next evening—an engagement we'd had for two weeks—and he seemed to think I ought to be very grateful for his kindness in arranging that.

"Well, Oscar Keith! You know him? A Ph. D.—never played football in his life—but he was an attentive escort and quite interesting. He found out that I'd read a few things myself, too.

"The night after the theater up came Mr. Keith again with the word that Kenneth had sprained his ankle practicing, and was in the depths of woe, not because he couldn't come to see me—oh, no!—but because he might have to miss playing in the game Saturday. That was the night Mr. Keith brought me the copy of 'Peer Gynt' from his library set. A few evenings later he came up on purpose to tell me just where Ken wanted me to sit on the grand stand Saturday, so that I could see him best. The ankle was coming all right, it seemed, but I didn't get one word direct from Ken, and I couldn't help showing how I felt about it when Mr. Keith delivered his verbal message.

"Yes, I went to the football game. It was the third one of my life. There were girls all around me, screaming, 'Go it Ken! Go it! Go it! Go it!' just as if he were an animal, and he looked enough like some queer animal, too! Those awful togs! Why, from the minute he trotted into the field with that nose-guard on I could have gone through the floor!

"But the girls went on shrieking and jumping up and down, and the terrible mixed-up game went on, until at last, without a bit of warning, they turned and pounced on me, and told me how proud I was because Ken's magnificent playing had won that game! Then they rushed me down to the gate and just as we got there, Kenneth was carried out on the shoulders of four boys.

"Such a fright! His hair was wild; there was mud plastered all over his forehead and one cheek and blood running down the other cheek. But he looked supremely happy, and when our eyes met the triumphant, complacent glance he gave said, as plain as words, 'Aren't you glad you got me, though!'

"I came straight home and wrote a letter breaking our engagement. He probably won't open it until after he sees how the Thanksgiving game comes out, but it's off my mind, and I've felt better ever since it was posted.

"What's that? No, I don't think my heart is broken. I don't know why. I was very fond of Ken until football came between us, but you see he would be liable to these attacks every autumn. Oscar Keith! Nonsense, Uncle Seymour!"—Chicago Daily News.

"Those Awful Togs."

L. N. Vedder

As the date for holding the Democratic Primary has been definitely fixed for June 8th, 1907, and this being a very busy time in the county clerk's office, I cannot in justice to my employer, Mr. Boyle, afford to leave the entire duties of the office to himself during the rush. It will perhaps be impossible for me to visit you personally before the date of holding our primaries, while it would afford me great pleasure to do so. I wish to say, I have had several years experience in official and clerical work in government and county office as follows: U. S. Land office Lamar, Colorado. U. S. Pension offices, Topeka, Kansas; In the Register of Deeds, county clerk and county treasurer offices, and I believe with my experience, if given an opportunity could render Caddo county fair services. I beg to submit the following endorsements:

U. S. Land Office Pueblo, Colorado. Oct. 30, 1888

This is to certify that L. N. Vedder has rendered his services as Receivers Clerk for the past two years. He has been a trusted and faithful clerk performing every duty imposed upon him. We cheerfully recommend him to anyone requiring good and competent services.

Frank P. Arbuckle, Register. Frank H. Schrock, Receiver.

Washington, Kans. Oct. 1, 1886 To Whom it May Concern:

This is to certify that L. N. Vedder has been in our employ as assistant cashier and bookkeeper for the past three years. He has at times had full control and management of the entire business of the bank, and rendered his services in a highly expert and satisfactory manner. We cheerfully recommend him to any one requiring like services.

A. S. RACE Cash., R. T. RACE, V. P., of the First National Bank.

Topeka, Kans. Jan. 15, 1902 This is to certify that L. N. Vedder has been employed in the United States Pension office for the past fourteen months, and I consider him one of the best clerks in the office.

G. W. GLICK, U. S. Pension Agent. Very respectfully, L. N. VEDDER.
